KENTUCKY.

Next Monday is county court day.

Dr. Pearce will conduct services at Hubble Sunday.

The venerable Mr. John Y. Leavell celebrated on the 21st his 93rd birthday.

Mrs. Alex West who has been confined to her bed for four weeks continues ill.

Mrs. Marshall Eason, who has been quite ill most of the winter, shows no improvement.

Capt. Wm. Herndon's barn burned on Wednesday afternoon, loss estimated at $150.00.

Callie Moor, aged 82 years, a highly respected colored woman of this city, died of paralysis on last Saturday.

Mrs. Samuel Cotton, of McCreary, who is reported quite sick will leave soon for Louisville where she will submit to an operation for appendicitis.

Union services were held Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church and all of the pastors of the town assisted. This was complimentary to the revival now being conducted by Rev. C. C. Brown.

Clean up right away, before the board of health is compelled to call your attention to filth upon your premises or adjoining alleys and streets. Clean up now. Spring is here, summer is advancing and now is the time to prevent disease.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. held appropriate services Saturday afternoon in honor of Neal Dow's birthday which was the 20th. He was a strong advocate of the temperance cause.

They with the assistance of the ministers of the town are making preparations for a grand rally in the near future.

No more hangings in Kentucky. Gov. Wilson has signed the new law which was enacted by the general assembly and provides that the death penalty shall, after June 15th 1910, be inflicted by electricity. It is estimated that the electric chair will cost $7,000.00. It will be installed in the State penitentiary either at Frankfort or Eddyville.

Colored School Closes.

After a very successful year, Prof. L. D. Williams principal of the colored school announces that the closing exercises will be conducted at the court house on next Thursday and Friday nights. There are two graduates and the commencement address will be delivered by Prof. H. C. Russell, of Bloomfield, Ky.

Week.

Two freight trains run together near Whites Station Monday night about 12 o'clock and three men were killed.

Town Lot Sold.

Hughes and Swinebroad sold for Mr. J. W. Sweeney a lot adjoining his residence on Lexington street to Dr. M. K. Denny for $1,500. Dr. Denny will build a handsome residence on it.

Fire Life and Accident.

Why Not Insure With E. C. Gaines. $2,332.28 paid lately and paid promptly and satisfactorily to the following claimants, Mrs. H. M. Ballou, Mrs. Jennie West, Dr. W. M. Elliott, Robt. P. Rout, Od. Hardin, Lynn Cobb and T. K. Watson. He looks after nothing but insurance, "companies, none better, few as good."

County Assessment.

County Clerk J. W. Hamilton has just completed the recapitulation of the county assessment for 1910 taxation, which shows the property subject to taxation as listed for county purposes to be about $6,000,000. This is a steady increase of the wealth of the county and indicates a very healthy business and general prosperous condition of our people.

The Fight is Now On.

The local option fight is on in earnest in Harrodsburg and the temperance people have an able and trustworthy leader in our fearless Commonwealth Attorney, Hon. Chas. A. Hardin. We hope that the whisky people may be completely routed. The Harrodsburg Republic has the following account of the first meeting of the temperance people:

A rousing local option meeting was held at the Methodist church Sunday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League. The meeting was addressed by Hon. C. A. Hardin, who delivered a very strong argument against the liquor evil. There was a large crowd present and all thoroughly enjoyed the address.

New Bowling Alley.

The New Brunswick Balke Bowling alley has now been installed in the room next to the pool room, formerly occupied by Miller & Ziegler. It is the most modern one that could be bought, having all the new improvements. It was opened on last Saturday and is now being patronized by some of the best people in the town and county. It will be opened two afternoons and nights a week to the young ladies on Tuesday and Friday, and for two weeks the ladies are permitted to bowl free of charge. At the end of this year a hundred dollars in gold will be given to the four young ladies making the most number of pins during the year. No gentlemen will be allowed inside the door unless accompanied by a lady.

Easter.

On next Sunday we celebrate the easter festival, although easter day was named after a heathen goddess who was the patroness of light and spring yet this festival is the Christian's hope and the dynamis that lifts the world.

The proper time for the celebration of easter has occasioned no little controversy but the question was settled and the church adopted rules which make easter day always the first Sunday after the first full moon which happens upon or next after March 21, so this festival may come as early as March 22 or as late as April 25. This sacred occasion has been termed the queen of festivals and is celebrated in every part of the Christian world with great solemnity and devotion. There are many popular observances of the day but the most characteristic easter rite and the one most widely used is that of using the colored eggs in many ways. From the Christian point of view this "Feast of Eggs" has been usually considered as emblematic of the resurrection and of a future life.

Circuit Court.

This is the last week of Circuit Court. Special Judge, P. M. McRoberts continues to preside and by his affable and courteous manner to lawyers, jury, litigants and witnesses is more esteemed and liked by all.

On the trial of Sam Broadus, colored for killing Winburn Cobb he was convicted of manslaughter and given two years in the penitentiary.

Mark Jennings for the killing of George McCowan under indictment for murder got a continuance on account of absent witnesses. Jennings then made application to the court for bail and upon the hearing of the evidence in rendering an opinion in the case the court held that in all cases the defendant is entitled to bail except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or presumption is great, but from the proof heard the law would not allow him bail, and he was sent to jail without bail to await trial on the fourth day of the next June term of court.

Robert Preston who lives near Bourne store was fined sixty dollars and cost for selling wine.

The grand jury will adjourn Friday. They have returned many indictments. This body is entitled to the commendation of the citizenship of the county for its excellent and faithful work. Mr. E. C. McWhorter foreman has been untiring in his efforts to have all violators of the law indicted.

Notice To Trustees.

The blanks for taking the school census have arrived. Trustees are hereby notified to call at my office and get same.

Jennie Higgins, Supt.

Prompt Settlement.

The Knights of Maccabees, on last Monday paid to Mrs. Nellie Ballou, widow of the late H. M. Ballou $2,500 the amount of insurance carried by Mr. Ballou in that order. The Maccabees always settles promptly.

The many friends of Eld. A. R. Moore formerly pastor of the Christian church here will be interested to know he is making a tour of the Holy Land. As he puts it he has gone "to see, study and learn all he can of the Land of the Book in order that he may be better able to teach and preach. He will be gone four months and his friends in this community join his family and congregation in wishing him a "bon voyage" a delightful visit and a safe return, well in both body and mind.

Cannon's Defeat.

Just to think that in a great and intelligent nation like this, for many years, Cannon and his four associates, the committee on rules, have prevented if not controlled such Legislation as they and their representatives have wished. That no such condition should exist we need no argument. The people have at last rebelled, the democrats and the insurgent republicans took from him not only his chairmanship, but even membership on the committee on rules, wherein lay his chief power. A political war was on when a big democrat from Texas accepted the speakership challenge and introduced a resolution to throw him out of the speakership. Later a vote was taken, the house defeating a resolution by representative Buleson, of Texas, declaring the speakership vacant, so it remains to be seen what the outcome of this political controversy will be. Let us hope that when peace reigns again that there will be such an understanding that no one, or set of men in that assembly will try to control affairs.

Another Man Killed Near Bryantville.

After the Record had gone to press last week the shocking report came that Luther Ray had killed Creed Turner and Ray was probably fatally wounded, near Bryantville in this county. The fight was a culmination of a series of criminal prosecutions of various charges against Creed Turner and his son Gilbert Turner Jr. in the courts of Garrard county in which Luther Ray had been summoned as a witness for the Commonwealth to testify against the Turners. Sometime ago Gilbert Turner Jr. was indicted on the charge of infecting a lot of hogs of Sam Morfords with cholera and U. G. Rainse was a witness in the trial of that case. After the trial, while returning from Mt. Hebron church in company with a young lady about nine o'clock at night while passing through the shadow of some shrubbery, Rainse was assaulted and severely beaten over the head with a large stick. The grand jury had indicted Creed Turner for this offense. At the present term of the court Turner had made an affidavit by which he had procured a continuance of this case the defense contending statements that it is reported offended Luther Ray who was a witness against Turner. It is said that a few days previous to the difficulty, hot words had passed between Ray and Creed Turner's brother Gilbert, who is a prominent citizen in the community of the trouble and who has been an active supporter of Creed in all his trials in court.

Both the Turners and Ray are known to be fearless and neither of whom would avoid trouble should he think the other to be seeking it. On late Thursday afternoon Ray walked from his residence through his front yard toward the pike armed with a pistol and a shot gun in his hand and at that time Creed Turner, his son, Gilbert, and cousin Frank Turner, who were also armed with pistols and shot guns came along the road and were about to pass the front gate of Ray's home, and the shooting began immediately. Reports are conflicting as to who fired the first shot. It is said that both Creed and his son were shooting at Ray but it is not known whether Frank Turner fired any shots during the battle. When the smoke cleared away Creed was dead with a charge of buck shot in his face and a pistol shot through his head. Neither Gilbert, Jr., nor Frank had been wounded, Ray was seriously if not fatally wounded with a charge of buck shot in his abdomen and pistol shots through his right shoulder, and right side. After the fight had ceased Ray was able to walk toward his home which was only a short distance. When he had almost reached his front door, while his face was turned toward the scene of battle another shot rang out which struck Ray directly in the forehead and fell him to the ground.

This last shot which must have come from a distance of more than 100 yards is said to be the most serious wound received by Ray. It is not known who fired this shot.

Luther Ray is a son of the late Allen Ray and has many relatives here, being a member of the Ray family one of the largest in the county. He is still alive but in a serious condition.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce Hon. Harvey Helm a candidate to succeed himself in Congress, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The educational experiment which made William Sidis a Mathematician, Scientist, Linguist and Author at eleven years.

William Sidis is the son of a noted psychologist who believes in the law of latent energy.

He believes every one of us possesses a reserve force which is used only on extraordinary occasions, but which, might be drawn upon constantly.

It is Doctor Sidis' belief that the process of education together with using this latent energy does not begin soon enough.

Doctor Sidis says that the time when we should start to train a child in the use of its faculties is when the child first displays any recognition of the power to think.

In his opinion that the longer it is delayed the harder it is for with every succeeding year his brain becomes increasingly ossified and less receptive to new impressions.

With the birth of his son Doctor Sidis found opportunity to put his theories to a practical test.

As a psychologist he was well aware that the moment the child began to speak his interest would be in the sounds he was uttering, and accordingly he resolved to begin his education by training him to identify the elements of sound. Taking a box of blocks he named each to the eighteen months old boy, pointing out one as A block, another as the B block and so on. Day after day with tireless patience he showed him how the different blocks showed different sounds. When, for example, the boy in his infancy uttered the sound "ba-ba" the father held up the B block and the A block. In this way as a child not two years old he learned to talk, spell and read.

Wishing to familiarize him with numbers, after teaching him to count he placed in the boy's hands several old calendars and explained to him their purpose, he played with these as with his blocks and started his parents by proving to them his ability to tell on what day of the week any given dates would fall. Meanwhile he learned not only to write but to use the typewriter.

His mother, who from the first cooperated with her husband in this educational experiment, cultivated the boy's imaginative side, he enjoyed "Alice in Wonderland" and "Mother Goose" and memorized many simple verses. By the time he reached the age of six, when it was decided to send him to school, he was mentally far in advance of other children of his years. His health had not been impaired, physically he was as he is today, a robust, sturdy lad, abounding in energy, fond of games and ever ready for play.

Six months after starting to school he passed through seven grades, only in one branch of study was he called deficient. This is the branch in which he now excels—mathematics. Apparently he could not master the rudiments of arithmetic. The father was not at all disturbed when he was informed how dull the teachers found him in this respect. "They do not know how to interest him," he said.

The manner in which he set about training his sons mind in this direction might well be an object lesson for every parent. There was nothing compulsory, he did not threaten or scold. His first move was to buy the boy a set of dominoes, with which he taught him games of adding. He would also give him lumps of sugar to be distributed equally among the family. Finally he became so interested in his own accord he began a systematic study of mathematics and at eight years completed the mathematical course in High School.

For lack of space we cannot tell how he was taught the language, sciences, anatomy etc., other than to say they were made interesting and never compulsory. "He was taught," says Doctor Sidis, "how to make proper use of his faculties." He was taught to draw on his stock of latent energy, and any child of normal intelligence could be educated the same way." Doctor Sidis in speaking to parents adds, "Parents should be made to realize what they owe their children, they must devote care and thought to the first years. The one thing needful after the preliminary stage of thought training has been past, is to appeal to a child's interest. Do not try to drive him to his books, he will go to them willingly enough if you will make them attractive to him. It means infinite patience, and a great expenditure of time but the result will more than repay your effort."

The turnpikes of the county are maintained by taxation. The dirt roads by unpaid for work, of not more than six days each year by all able bodied male citizens between the ages of eighteen and fifty. We, therefore, have in effect at this time two systems for repaving the free roads.

There is an increasing dissatisfaction on the part of our citizens who live on the dirt roads with the present plans. Since our several suggestions in the Record regarding roads, a number of our readers have written us complaining of injustice to them in the general effect of the road system. But no tangible plan has been laid before us to remedy the wrong if there be any. It has only been a few years since the turnpikes were purchased and changed from toll to free roads. In many, if not all the contracts of purchase it is clearly stipulated or implied that the county will continue to maintain the turnpikes as free macadam roads. The county is, therefore, under contract to keep up the turnpikes. The county levy for road purposes is up to the constitutional limit. When all the funds for road purposes are expended, only a small portion goes to the dirt roads. In order for an improvement in the dirt road system, a plan must be devised to either rebuild and keep in repair the turnpikes cheaper than in the past or enlarge in some way the general road fund, for the county must carry out its contract with the former owners of the pikes. The dirt roads, however, are receiving more attention than ever before, but this does not satisfy the public. The rapid advancement of the general social condition demands that the improvement of the dirt roads keep pace with other public matters, not, however to the sacrifice of turnpikes but in the betterment of both. We interpret the law on roads to contemplate that the two road systems be applied in harmony and more under one management than is now, perhaps being done.

The constant summer plague, the little house fly will soon be on hand and with its appearance comes ill that are not duly considered by many people. Clean and continue to keep clean your premises and the flies destructive work is greatly reduced. The Indianapolis News makes the following timely comment about the fly:— The estimate that $10,000,000 a year is spent in this country for fly screens is probably not exaggerated. Every person who has equipped his home adequately with screens realizes the expense. And even with screens there must be eternal vigilance to keep out the flies.

And why is all this so? Because we are not cleanly. It is not a pleasant admission to make, but it is none the less true. In too many of the back yards of residences during the summer season will be found open garbage receptacles. It is these open garbage waste of food to form breeding places for the flies which later on are to poison our fresh food and make us sick.

It is notable that there are fewer flies down town than there are in the residence districts. Some well-kept office buildings are practically clear of them, and screens in such places are almost unknown. This is because they afford no place for the fly to breed and nothing for it to eat. Flies and decomposition are necessary for the propagation of flies, and the less of this there is the fewer flies there will be. If all garbage were kept in tightly covered receptacles and if all filth were cleaned up the decrease in the number of flies would be surprising and there would undoubtedly be a sharp decrease in the summer death rate.

We are entering upon a new era in America. Our National State and municipal boards of hygiene, better sanitary laws, associations of doctors, philanthropic and other organizations, bureaus of medical research, improved hospitals and better trained nurses and doctors, are rapidly improving the health of our nation.

Professor Irving Fisher's recent report on national vitality tells us that in the U. S. at all times there are actually 3,000,000 people sick and this sickness cost America 1,500,000,000 a year, twice the revenue of the national Government. So by this report we find America has a tremendous sick list and the greatest reform before the country today is to get well. We have obliterated yellow fever and scurvy and almost ended small pox. In another generation any city with a typhoid epidemic will be scorned and we shall have tuberculosis well under control.

While we find this great country as a whole making such a vigorous war on the prevailing diseases of today let us as a town not neglect these most important facts pertaining to the health of our little city. As spring time approaches, let us get to work to have every sanitary arrangement possible. Let us wisely spend a great deal of thought on the conservation of our natural resources and devoting our spare effort and thought to conserving our vital resources. By lengthening and strengthening our lives, we can create a new and higher civilization in this tired old world.

The opportunity for the success of the Democratic party is the most fitting for years. The bitter antagonism in Congress between the Republican representatives of Cannonism and the Republican insurgents is only an evidence of similar lack of harmony among the voters of this party. Those who are believers in the principles of the Democratic party are getting together and uniting upon definite policies everywhere. Then let the host of Democracy select only such men to represent us in the Legislative hall as can be depended upon to stand by the party, men who will not serve the Trust and organized interest, but who are at heart and soul in sympathy with the interest of the masses. The voters will then rally to our party and victory will be ours in both 1910 and 1912.

Of the many things the Legislature failed to do that the people wanted, there is one for which the people are glad; that the dog law was left in existence. Now let it be enforced.

BUSINESS MAN'S PHILOSOPHY

Grievances voiced are half cured.

The easiest thing to cultivate is suspicion.

The "sharp" man generally cuts his own fingers.

The best working formula to success is "concentrated energy."

The sunny side of your make-up best lights the road to success.

Orders given aggressively are usually obeyed just that same way.

You can improve your own business by keeping out of other people's.

Simple hard work has made a garden out of a wilderness many a time.

An ounce of directed enthusiasm is worth a ton of constrained effort.

System is like money—useful when you master it; ruinous when it masters you.

Failure anticipated jolts hard the plank of opportunity across the stream of success.

When you see your employer cheating a customer, resign before he tries his hand on you.

It's possible to worry so much about what you ought to do that you never find time to do what you might.—Warwick James Price, in The Book-Keeper.

JOTTINGS.

The barking dog carries no bones.

Why worthy women love worthless men is a mystery.

Every homely woman imagines that she has a beautiful soul.

When a girl says she feels "faint" it means that she is hungry.

Strange as it may seem, a nagging woman often loves her husband.

Some spinsters act kittenish because they are too old to know better.

If a man looks at his watch while you are telling a story, cut it short.

Wives look forward to buying new clothes, and husbands to paying for them.

When it comes to minding their own business men have women beaten to a frazzle.

If people were compelled to follow their own advice they would generate a better brand.

No man would be able to escape matrimony if nature had fixed it so that all women could have been born widows.

When a millionaire points out the road to riches he invariably designates one that leads away from his own private hunting grounds.

SCINTILLATIONS.

There's many a slip 'twixt the razor and lip.

Whoever is worth doing at all gets done to a turn.

It doesn't take much sparking to kindle the flames of love.

Never judge a man by his actions. He may need the money.

More than half our suspicions have foundations like air castles.

Still, a gum-chewing girl may be worthy a cigarette smoker's love.

Don't take up so much room and you will have less house cleaning to do.

A woman thinks she's charitable if she only tells half her neighbor's faults.

One taste of defeat is enough to discourage some men all the rest of their lives.

Before marriage a girl has winning ways; after marriage she acquires the hold-up habit.

When a girl admires a young man who is attached to another girl she tries her best to break the fastenings.

CURBSTONE PHILOSOPHER.

In many a business the silent partner's money talks the loudest.

Homely persons readily believe that most mirrors are defective.

To get a reputation for having your advice accepted, find out how those who ask you for it desire to be advised.

The man who thinks it beneath his dignity to play second fiddle rarely gets into the band wagon.

Our friends are persons to whom we say things that we would not dare to say to our enemies.

A man who is always ready to discuss all subjects doesn't know much about any.

About Medium.

A prominent clergyman was baptizing an infant. The father, whose name was McCabe, being present, the pastor in writing it inquired whether he spelled it with a large C or a small c, to which the proud father replied, "Middlin' large, if you please, father."

EDITOR IN TROUBLE

ALKALI EYE WANTS TO KNOW JUST WHAT HE MISSED.

Judging From Results There Was Some Remarkable Stuff in His "Subscription Jug," and He Is Wondering.

We wish we knew what some duck put into our subscription jug yesterday; all we know is that one of the finest drinkin' ducks o' Alkali come wobblin' inter our presence yesterday jest after th' afore said subscription had been received, an' in response ter his pleadin' look we jerked our thumb toard our jug an' he went over an' fastened himself onto th' neck of it an' took three gurgles, then he dropped th' jug onto th' impolite stone, where it busted, an' he hollered, then he riz up onto his toes an' hollered ag'in, then he jumped three foot inter th' air an' let out another yawn, an' though we started fer him th' minute th' jug smashed, an' though we had on'y about six feet ter go ter reach him, before we could git ter where he was at he hed hollered three times, rolled over on th' floor four times, wiped his tongue on th' office towel once, an' run around th' office like a cat with a fit, and whilst we managed ter land onto his gable end with a galley as he went outen th' window there was not much satisfaction in that fer us, an' he seemed ter be havin' so many other troubles with himself that we don't believe he ever knew we landed till he got sobered up an' tried ter set down. We went back ter where he hed dropped th' jug an' smelt o' th' pieces, an' tried ter pick some o' th' done up with th' office sponge, but they was so much other foreign matter in th' sponge that we couldn't taste th' dope at all; then we went ter th' door an' looked up th' road at th' cloud o' dust that was a-dwindlin' into th' distance an' we seen that it wouldn't be no good tryin' ter overtake th' party of th' first part, an' there wouldn't've ben no result by a homicide if we had ketchin' up with him, an' whilst we was a-hungerin' ter commit murder we was a-hungerin' worse fer a drink. We would like ter know what it was in th' jug; we believe that if we could git a good snifter o' th' kind o' dope underneath the waist band of our pants we could beat our own record at lickin' a policeman, an' that would be goin' some. When we went back th' stone was a-smokin' an' there was a hole burnt into th' floor an' th' sponge was on fire an' they was a scorched streak th' entire length of th' office towel, but aside from them few traces of th' late disaster everything was all right. Ef we kin find th' name of th' stuff that done it all we shall challenge th' winner of th' Johnson-Jeffries fight. Ef th' duck that poured th' subscription will come back ag'in he will hear o' something to our advantage. Meantime we ar ready ter exchange a year's subscription fer a new jug. "Alkali Eye," in the Houston Post.

Separating Them.

Mr. Grubb, an elderly bachelor, having been troubled for a week or two with a pain in his back, went to his doctor. The physician, who was just starting to see a patient, prescribed two large porous plasters and told him to call again in about a fortnight and report.

Mr. Grubb complied with directions. He went to a drug store and bought the plasters and after a prolonged struggle with them in his own room succeeded in getting them properly in place. Being a very small man, however, the two nearly covered his whole back. At the end of two weeks he called at the physician's office again.

"Well, how is your back?" asked the medical man. "Sound as a dollar. Hasn't pained me any for ten days or more." "Glad to hear it. You may take the plasters off whenever you please." "Not much!" exclaimed Mr. Grubb, removing his coat and vest, taking off his collar and locking the door of the doctor's office. "I won't touch 'em. They're bigger than I am. What I want you to do now, doctor, is to pull me off the plasters."—Youth's Companion.

No Occasion for Apology.

"Can you tell me where the janitor department is?" the hurrying woman shopper asked. "No, ma'am," replied Mr. Lincoln. "Can you direct me to the furniture department?" "I beg your pardon," he said. "I took you for a floorwalker." "Don't apologize for a compliment like that, ma'am," he answered; but the woman was in too big a hurry to hear.

A Suggestion.

The girl who is an interior decorator was walking down Fifth avenue with a woman friend, says the New York Press. They stopped at a quaint little store full of beautiful antiques and other things. "It's the height of my ambition," said the girl, "to have a little store like that and sell antique and beautiful things. I love antiques." "Can't you get an antique husband?" asked the woman, "who would set you up in one?"

Hard-Earned Recreation.

Mrs. Newich—O, dear, my husband don't have to be in business no more. He's just a gentleman now. Mrs. Bluffer—That must be a pleasant change for him.—Stray Stories.

Oleo as a Calf Food.

New hope appears for the oleomakers in recent tests at an experiment farm in Italy. It was found that the best feeding material for calves was a mixture of skim milk with oleomargarine. The calves are not likely to object to this substitute for the natural food, and it would seem that the oleo oil, if it could be bought at a price low enough, would be just the thing to even up the composition of skim milk. It is claimed that a good quality of veal can be made on this ration at a low cost.

Care of Stock.

Go down to the barn every night after supper and see that everything is all right with the stock. Better sell half the stock and give all of the feed to what remains than to stint the whole herd. How many thousands of dollars are farmers losing to loss during the present winter by letting the stock run down?

"Cracks At Creation."

Did you know?—That the author of this column is a farmer and can tell you a few things that you probably don't know.

That it is extremely rude in a farmer who raises corn to pull its ears. It is more gentlemanly to leave the ears down and let his neighbors cows pull them.

That the tree that bears the most fruit is the apple-tree. Cousin Charley Grimes will tell you this.

That I saw potato bugs looking over Theo. Currey's and W. D. Walker's books to see who had bought seed potatoes.

That more farming implements die from undue exposure, than from hard work.

That English Sparrows are more preferable than worms, but I think both should be destroyed.

That one baby can furnish more business than you and your whole interior department can attend to.

That it is wrong to mistreat your poor relations. They might be taken suddenly rich some day and then it would be hard to explain things to them.

That there is a code of morals that allows boys to steal melons and grapes but not potatoes and peas.

That it is wrong to listen to other people talk. You might forget what you wanted to say yourself.

That the best way to entertain your friends is with long accounts of what "Mary said" and what "Johnnie did" if this fails to entertain them tell them about that long spell of rheumatism you had.

That there is a man in town who says he doesn't believe in doing any thing for posterity, because he says, posterity has done nothing for him.

That another one says he is bound to live within his means if he has to borrow money to do it.

That it is a waste of time to go after the cows, just go sit down with a pail twist your legs and wait for the cows to back up to you to be milked.

That lots of people clasp their hands so tight during prayer they can't get them open when the contribution is taken up.

That Car'ton Elkin is one of our most progressive young farmers and any young lady that can bake good pies can catch same by paying for this advertisement and twenty years board bill.

That Bascom Ford is one of our scientific farmers, who does his courting in the dark of the moon, but says any old moon will do to plant corn in.

That Dave Thomas was once a farmer. So many great men start life that way. He is a little partial to Buckeye and thinks that the most productive end of the county.

That Hugh Logan says that he doesn't have to build concrete walks to get the ladies to walk with him.

That Cook and Peary made a great mistake when they failed to send back souvenir post cards of the North pole.

That Harvey Helm has sent us carrot seed and parsnip seed and we would like to exchange them for clover seed.

That "Billie" Burton found the farm too slow and took to fast horses. I predict an Automobile will be his finish.

That if you are not satisfied with your farm Hughes & Swinebroad can find the fellow what is.

That I will be glad to answer any question on farming and take it out in chewing tobacco.

That every farmer and his family in the county should attend the Lancaster fair July 27th, 28th and 29th.

That if you can imagine yourself on the summit of an Alpine peak gazing around you upon a country unsurpassed by the valleys, hills and plains of sunny Italy itself, you have a mental picture of the beautiful "Land of Now" as seen from the cupola of the Garrard County court house. While you stand here gazing North, South, East or West you will readily conclude that this is truly the open doorway to Dixie and the garden spot of the world.

Mr. J. Perry Ingram quite recently of this country, has leased the farm of 340 acres known as "Glen Brook" two miles west of Versailles, on the McCracken turnpike. This is considered one of the best and most improved farms in Woodford county.

The first duty of man is to home, to his wife and children. As a husband, father, an example to his sons and daughters, their counselor and friend, he should be the light and joy of his household, their strength for duty, their comfort and help in all that prepares for usefulness and makes home attractive to all.

The Miss Grants' all three sisters, as professional newspaper reporters, representing five or six news sheets, urgently request of the general public that all news items be telephoned, even by country acquaintances, and from the uttermost limits of the county.

They will have a telephone inserted this week for that special purpose and they beseechingly ask their friends to give them assistance by promptly wiring them all news items.

Saved A Soldier's Life.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds." NABOTH, JR.

Naboth Jr. is a rich red bay, 9 years old and full 16 hands high, weighs 1225 pounds and is a horse of wonderful beauty, having a long, rangy neck and carrying a fine tail. He is a perfect galloper with superb all round action and like all sons of old Naboth he has great natural speed in harness and a greater racing horse can not be found in the State of Kentucky. I have been a dealer in fancy horses for ten years, furnishing them for all the markets in this country and I am anxious to encourage the breeders of horses to continue to raise better ones. As is generally known there is a scarcity of good horses, and those suitable for the Eastern market bring fancy prices. If the breeders would raise "Naboth" one "Naboth" they must take the mare to the right kind of sire. Naboth Jr., beyond all doubt, is a horse that will produce that type of horses that the market demands, and for which the public is willing to pay high prices. I purchased this great young stallion at a fancy price because he has size, style, action, beauty and breeding. I had this horse worked 30 days and he stepped a mile in 2:10. If like beggars like you can get the right kind of horse by breeding to Naboth Jr., you will note that this Stallion has the blood of Old Naboth, Hambletonian 10, Old Messenger Chief, Red Wilkes, George Wilkes, Manbrino Chief, Pilot Jr and Harry Clay.

PEDIGREE.

Second dam, Boss, sister to James Howell, Jr. by Hambletonian. Third dam, Jessie Sayre by Harry Clay 45. Fourth dam, by Liberty, son of Lance, by American Eclipse.

Naboth Jr.'s first dam by Messenger Chief, Jr. by Old Messenger Chief. Second dam by Eric Davis, by Red Wilkes, Third dam Thoroughbred.

Naboth Jr. will be kept during the season of 1910 at my stable in Lancaster, Ky. and will be permitted to serve mares at the very low price of $15.00 to insure a living colt. I am prepared to care for stock from a distance at reasonable prices but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes of stock committed to my care.

NOTICE: Naboth Jr. is the sire of the colt that won the $100, champion colt stake, also the sire of the winner of the yearling stake, at the Lancaster Fair 1908.

Farm and Stock.

Wanted—A young, gentle horse, ap- plying to this office.

I. F. Naylor sold to J. I. Hamilton a sow and ten pigs for $50.

Mr. Jas. I. Hamilton sold Garrard county a pair of mules for $150.

The cost of keeping good thorough- bred stock, is no more than keeping in mongrels, and there is much greater profit in the long run.

Mr. W. R. Cook and Mr. Tom Ran- kin have both bought Silos. This shows that the farmers of this county are progressing. The cost of a Silo is about $250.

Why do farmers neglect their poul- try when they have nothing else on the farm that they pay better? That is a hard question to answer. It must be because they do not think and are careless and negligent.

The general farmer is the man to raise turkeys successfully. He has the range to furnish green truck and grain-picking and grasshoppers, which make a balanced ration. The selling price is certainly high enough to tempt the most avaricious.

Where one can give the hens all the milk they can consume, it is not nec- essary to furnish beef scraps; unless milk is given to the growing chicks or the supply of bugs is plentiful it is necessary to provide meat meal for good results. Animal food, in some shape, is necessary.

Kind treatment of dairy cows can- not well be overestimated. The cow which is treated with a kind word and a gentle stroke of the hand is sure to give more milk and better milk. Rough treatment stirs up anger and resentment in the cow and causes her to "hold up" her milk. The little milk obtained is not properly secreted and is of an unwholesome if not de- cidedly deleterious character.

All fixtures in a hog house should be movable. It is advantageous to have the troughs where they may be washed or scalded out twice each week at least. It should be borne in mind that foul troughs are good breeding places for parasites that may be taken into the stomach and converted into worms. Damp floors may become over- matted. If the house is well aired and windows enough are in place to let the sunshine in on the floor. It is never best to allow dust to accumulate on the partitions and in pens used for feed. It is always injurious to the health of the hogs.

The Sheep Breeder calls attention to the fact that in 1909 there was im- ported into the United States 312,131, 171 pounds of foreign wool, worth $55.

530,366. Do you know that the total production of wool in the United States in 1908 was only 311,138,321 pounds, almost one million pounds less than the total amount of our last year's importation? Do you know that in 1903 we only raised 287,450,000 pounds of wool—24,681,171 pounds less than we imported in 1909? Can you give us any logical reason why every pound of wool consumed in this country cannot be raised here?—Indiana Farmer.

Cows of fair quality only, such as will make 250 to 300 pounds of butter per year, when properly fed make three pounds of butter per each bushel of corn or oats, when the two grains are ground together and fed. Surely that is a better market for corn than when sold as grain is sold on the market. Referring to this matter Horatio Dalrymple says: "There never was a time when it paid as good a profit as it does today to feed a cow well. Think of it. Three pounds of butter in a bushel of corn. That is nearly a dollar's worth of butter. What kind of a farmer must a man be that will not turn grain into butter at that price? One great trouble is that these farmers have not taken pains to breed good cows that it will pay a big profit to feed well. If ever a farmer fed well he should do it now."

The advantages of the silo are at- tracting more and more attention in these times of high priced feed for cows. Of course clover and alfalfa hay to balance to cow ration with silage, must not be forgotten. But one of our live stock exchanges puts the silo question strongly in this statement. The silo is the savings bank of the dairy industry. Filled with corn or silage, it is a sure source of steady milk production and represents the cheapest efficient feed produced on the farm for dairy husbandry. It assists the dairyman to produce milk, butter and cheap fertilizers economically. It is more convenient to handle than a dry fodder and makes palatable large quantities of feed that otherwise would be wasted. With a herd of good cows and a silo the farmer can achieve all the possibilities of the dairy industry and by proper manage- ment of the droppings of the herd can also annually increase the fertility of his land.

Mr. Levi Anderson, who lives in the Canaan neighborhood is the owner of some very interesting relics of the long ago. Among them is a flint-lock rifle used by his father 75 years ago. It is the prettiest gun we have ever seen. A crooked hickory cane is an- other. It is 60 years old and has a buz- zard's head carved on it. Canaan is a good section of country, almost as good as the Bible place of that name.

Mr. J. F. Moser's barn burned down last Monday night at 9 o'clock, entail- ing a total loss of nearly $2,000. Three horses, three cows, 100 barrels of corn 50 bushels of wheat, a large quantity of hay, and all his farming implements burned. The fire is believed, by Mr. Moser, to have been of incendiary ori- gin. Bloodhounds were called but only trailed to the river near by where it is thought the firebug mounted a horse and rode away. A horse had been tied at this point. James Burke showed himself a man of much cour- age by rushing into the falling struc- ture to drag out a two-horse wagon and some gates. He was severely burned about the face and hands.

Do farmers eat the proper sort of food?

The farmer of today buys a much larger proportion of the food that goes on the table than he did ten years ago. It's a good thing that this is so because He should, however, use great care in selecting for the best results in health and strength.

The widespread tendency in the city to increase the amount of Quaker Oats eaten is due very largely to the recent demonstrations by scientific men that the Quaker Oats fed man is the man with greatest physical endurance and greatest mental vigor.

Farmers should give this subject careful thought and should increase the quantity of Quaker Oats eaten by themselves, their children and the farm hands.

Packed in regular size 10c packages, and in hermetically sealed tins for hot climates.

Indigestion

Relief in Five Minutes and Per- manent Cure or Money Back.

When R. E. McRoberts states that he has a remedy that is guaranteed to cure any man or woman who suffers from food fermentation which causes belching, sour stomach, gas eructa- tions, heartburn and that lump of lead feeling in the abdomen or money back what are the poor stomach sufferers in Lancaster and vicinity going to do about it?

The name of this most remarkable stomach prescription is M-C-N-A. Most people call them M-C-N-A stomach tab- lets because they know that there is no remedy so good for indigestion or stomach disorders. Here is one opin- ion:

"I have been troubled with indi- gestion for more than a year. I bought one box of M-C-N-A and it cured me. Now I would not be without a box in the house for $50.00. It saves a lot of doctor bills when you can be cured for 50 cents."

You can use my name if you want to."—Arthur Sederquest, 6 Nichols St., Wakefield, Mass. Nov. 7, 1909.
